

An Iconic Model Railroad for Everyone to Enjoy...

When the Randall Museum received a grant to renovate and expand our natural history exhibits, we envisioned creating a whole new exhibit gallery within the museum. We also wanted to create a new food service area and a circulation path that allowed visitors to roam freely among our program and exhibit areas on all levels.

The new plan will also allow visitors to interact with our iconic model train layout whenever the Randall is open to the public. The Randall is fortunate to have a group of dedicated model train enthusiasts under our roof who are committed to help us make this new vision a reality. Despite the challenges posed by working within an existing building, we are looking forward to a new and exciting Randall Museum that includes new exhibits and programs as well as older favorites like our model train layout that have brought joy to many of our visitors in the past.

Chris Boettcher
Randall Museum Director

Jim Willcox
Golden Gate Model Railroad